

LIVING STONES

Common law - common humanity - common sense

“We are not a political party nor are we a religious cult; we are simply a group of living beings, flesh and blood, spiritually united in heart and soul. We stand as individuals yet built together under a common, natural law, which is shared by all, owned by none and which is superior to any statute. We each have a personal commitment, divinely inspired, to do no harm, to cause no loss to others, to commit no fraud and to keep the peace.”

UNALIENABLE RIGHTS

Let’s remind ourselves what are our unalienable rights as living beings on this planet. Unalienable rights are the inherent, sovereign, natural rights which existed before the creation of any kingdom or state, and which, being antecedent to and above such, can neither be taken away, diminished, altered, nor levied, except by due process of True Law.

Nor can any unalienable right be fundamentally removed or waived by contract, whether by non-disclosure, which is fraud and unenforceable, either legally or lawfully, nor knowingly by sufferance, which is contrary to the spirit of the true Law and prejudicial to true sovereignty.

The original, unalienable rights of every wo/man include the:

- right to life freedom, health and the pursuit of happiness.
- unlimited right to contract, or not to contract, in any matter.
- right to earn a living income in a fair exchange for one’s work.
- right to travel in the ordinary course of one’s life and business.
- right to privacy and confidentiality, free from unwarranted invasion.
- right to own and hold property, lawfully without trespass.

LIVING STONES

Common law - common humanity - common sense

- right to self-defence when threatened with harm, loss or deceit.
- right to be presumed innocent, suffering no detention or arrest, no search or seizure, without reasonable cause.
- right to remain silent when accused, to avoid self-incrimination.
- right to equality in the eyes of true law and to equal representation.
- right to trial by jury, before an impartial panel of one's peers.
- right to appeal in statute legislation against conviction or sentence, or both.
- right to expose knowledge necessary to one's rights and freedoms.
- right to peaceful association, assembly, expression and protest.
- right to practise a religion and to hold beliefs of one's choosing.
- right to love and to consensual marriage with children as a family.
- right to security from abuse, persecution, tyranny and/or war.
- right to refuse to kill under command by reason of conscience.
- right to live in peace and be left alone when Law-abiding.

“Surely, the most critical failure of the people is their failure to ensure the teaching and common knowledge of these our unalienable rights. If you do not know your rights, you effectively have none. By the path of ignorance, whether by apathy or due to deception, the people will end up living in a state of exploitation - under oppression and tyranny”.

With a hat-tip to David Robertson, who lived and died a faithful defender of these truths.
